

DO YOU KNOW THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN ARTERIES AND VEINS?

Arteries and veins are both types of blood vessels, but they differ in their structure as well as the direction in which blood flows through them. Arteries have thicker and more muscular walls, and they carry blood away from the heart, to the rest of the body. Veins, on the other hand, are thinner, and carry blood from the body back to the heart.

Disney
BE HEALTHY
BE ACTIVE