1. The investment markets

The final quarter of 2017 saw domestic equities finish the year on a strong note. The FTSE/JSE All Share's total return for the final quarter was recorded at 7.44% which brings the total return for the 2017 year to 20.95%. The best performing sector for the fourth quarter was the financial sector. The FTSE/JSE SA Financials index returned 15.98%.

The domestic bond market (ALBI) returned 2.22% for the latest quarter compared to 3.68% for the previous quarter. The bond market gave investors a total return of 10.22% for the 2017 year.

The rand appreciated by 10.53% in the final quarter against the US Dollar mainly due to Cyril Ramaphosa being elected as the new president of the African National Congress.

The S&P 500 rallied to 6.49% (Total Return) in the fourth quarter to finish the year at record highs for the index. The rally was fuelled by the tax cuts being passed in the United States. The S&P 500's total return for the 2017 year was 21.10% in US dollars.

On the other side of the pond the FTSE 100 gave a total return in pound sterling of 5.02% for the final quarter. The FTSE 100 returned 11.95% for the year which showed resilience if taking into account the uncertainty created by the Brexit talks.

Overall, the main highlight of the quarter and indeed the year was the buzz around cryptocurrencies. In the last quarter of the year Bitcoin futures traded for the first time on the largest futures exchange, the CME. Bitcoin has returned in excess of 1000% for the 2017 year, which leads us to the main question on everyone's mind; bubble or not?

Note: All returns calculated including dividends

4. Domestic CIS Management Company Ratings

The methodology to calculate the ratings of CIS management companies is based on applying weights to each of the four broad unit trust sectors based on the total money invested in the sectors and skill. The size of a rated fund of a company relative to the combined size of all the rated funds in that company's fold in a specific broad unit trust sector is also taken into account to determine each management company's rating in its broad unit trust sector. The company's South African rating accounts for 85% of the overall rating, with South African Equity and Real Estate combined accounting for 25% of the overall rating, South African Interest Bearing and Multi Asset Income combined 25%, and South African Multi Asset (excluding South African Multi Asset Income) 35%. The company's Global rating accounts for 15% and is a combination of the Global and Worldwide categories as an asset class. The fund sizes at the end of the previous quarter are used in the calculations.

To qualify for a CIS management company rating, a company must be registered as such and must have a rated fund in each of the broad unit trust sectors. However, the company must have a rated fund in the South African Equity General category or an actively managed fund in the Large Cap subcategories. A management company with a rated fund in the Worldwide category but with no rated funds in the Global category will not qualify for a Global and Worldwide rating or an overall management company rating. Other companies are rated separately if their funds are listed as "third-party funds" under a registered CIS management company and they meet the same qualification requirements as for their registered counterparts.

7. Ratings of Foreign funds (FSB-approved)

In most instances the reason for the decision to have funds abroad is probably to own hard currencies and the decision is driven by factors such as future educational needs, emigration, inheritance, etc. The decision to invest abroad is therefore in most cases a major decision on its own and independent of the external value of the rand and the returns on rand-denominated investment schemes offered to SA investors.

The investment universe available to the SA investor with funds abroad therefore includes all country-specific, regional and global asset classes. The universe also includes investments and investment schemes in SA but priced in foreign currencies. The investor's risk-free investment in this case is short-term bank deposits in the currencies of his choice. The investor investing abroad is therefore aware of the currency risks and more concerned about the risks of the investment options available to him, including FSB-approved collective investment schemes or unit trusts.

The prices of the FSB-approved unit trusts are quoted in the applicable foreign currencies. To compare and evaluate funds on a risk-adjusted basis their returns need to be comparable in a base currency. With the SA investor's decision to invest via hard currencies he becomes a global investor and will base his investment decisions on the same principles as other global investors. He will be looking at returns in hard currencies rather than returns in ZAR.

The risk-free investment should therefore be short-term bank deposits in the base currency selected for the comparison of risk-adjusted returns of funds. The hurdle rate or risk-free rate should therefore be the rate earned on short-term bank deposits in the base currency.

The US dollar is the world's reserve currency and the most popular currency to compare and measure fund performances across borders globally. We therefore measure and rate FSB-approved funds by using US dollar returns and the US 3-month Treasury Bill rate as hurdle rate. The monthly total return indices (in rands) of the FSB-approved funds with income distributions reinvested as supplied by ProfileData were converted to US dollars to calculate the monthly US dollar returns.

The foreign fund ratings are listed in Annexure Seven.

At the end of December 2017, 132 FSB-approved foreign funds were rated compared to 130 at the end of September 2017. The ratings of 94 of the funds were unchanged, and 3 funds had major rating changes.

8. Foreign CIS (FSB-approved) Management Company Ratings

To qualify for an overall rating, a management company must have at least one fund in the Global Equity General or the Global Asset Allocation (Flexible and Prudential combined) sector, and at least three rated funds. A management company with a Global Real Estate fund but no other rated equity funds will not obtain an Equity & Real Estate rating. The ratings of the FSB-approved Global Real Estate General funds are included in the broad Offshore Equity & Real Estate sector or asset class. In the calculation of the total offshore PlexCrown rating of FCIS management companies the following weights are applied to the average PlexCrown ratings per broader category:

Table 8a

9. How to use the ratings

Selecting an investment vehicle from all funds available to investors is not a mechanical process. It combines art and science, judgment and analysis. However, in this process all available information needs careful consideration. As the ratings are based on historical data, they are not necessarily indications of future performances. The ratings are intended for use as a step in the evaluation process for investors as various factors such as investment goals, risk tolerance, costs and administration efficiencies should be taken into consideration in the selection of unit trusts. If the classification standards of multi-asset classes are too wide to allow transparency in the comparison of returns or risk-adjusted returns, the industry may wish to consider refining the fund classification into sub-groups that are more homogeneous in terms of investment goals.

Lowly rated funds should not summarily be discarded. A lowly rated fund may have great prospects due to a change of portfolio manager or a change in the investment process of the investment house. The fund's assets may have been strategically aligned with the investment house's philosophy and style and this strategy may have led to underperformance. Do not blindly select highly rated funds. Use all available tools to track and research the performance of the fund and investment house. The highly rated fund's future prospects may be in jeopardy due to a change of portfolio manager or merger of management companies or a downward trend in the overall investment performance of the investment house. Do not ignore funds that have not yet been rated due to a lack of performance history. The portfolio manager or investment house responsible for the management of the fund's assets may have an excellent record of superior performance and there is no reason why the fund should not eventually achieve a top rating.

If a fund's rating has dropped significantly you should research what has caused it. Has the portfolio manager of the fund changed? Is he taking on bigger risks than in the past? Has the fund experienced such an inflow that the portfolio manager's ability to manoeuvre has diminished? Is this the only fund in the investment house's fold that is underperforming? If not, has there been a major change in the investment team's investment process? Is the management company concerned about it and what steps are being taken?

Whatever supplementary considerations an investor may wish to introduce in his/her investment decision methodology, it would probably be unwise to ignore the information contained in the historical rankings of funds or management companies as point of departure.

10. PlexCrown fund-rating methodology

The PlexCrown Ratings are done in line with guidelines set by ASISA and other criteria set by PlexCrown:

- Unclassified and varied specialist funds are not rated.
- Gold and precious metals funds are also excluded due to the specialist qualities.
- A subcategory will be rated only if it consists of at least five funds of five years or older.
- Only funds with an official track record of at least five years qualify for a rating.
- Pure index-tracking funds that require no skill are excluded from the ratings.
- Funds in the Interest-bearing Money Market subcategory and other money market-related funds are not rated.
- Only retail funds that have published their performance figures in the public domain are considered in the ratings.
- Only retail funds that are open to all retail investors are considered in the ratings.
- FSB-approved funds in the Global - Asset Allocation - Prudential and Global - Asset Allocation - Flexible subcategories are rated in the broader Global - Asset Allocation category.
- Only one class of a fund is taken into account in the calculation of the fund's subcategory return averages. Where a fund has more than one class, the higher-cost A fund's returns are used. In the absence of an A class, the R class is used. If an A class fund has a shorter return history than that of the R class, the R class's history is used until the A class was listed for the first time. If a fund has no A or R classes and only a B1 class, for instance, the latter's returns are used. If the A class includes a management fee to be paid to an adviser and is included in the pricing of the A class, the following rules apply:
  - If the A class is the only class available to retail investors, the A class's returns are used.
  - If another class is available to retail investors where no management fees are payable to advisers and it is therefore "clean", the "clean" class's returns are used. The "clean" class must have a return history of 5 years or longer. If the "clean" class's return history is shorter than 5 years, the A class's returns will be used.
- Where an FSB-approved fund has A and B classes, the A class is used. Where an accumulation class is listed together with the normal class, the normal class is used."

Funds in Non-multi Asset subcategories and Interest Bearing Variable Term subcategories are ranked on a percentile basis over five- and three-year periods according to the Sharpe Ratio, Alpha, Treynor Ratio, Sortino Ratio and Omega. Funds in the Multi Asset subcategories (excluding Multi Asset Income) are ranked over five- and three-year periods according to the Sharpe Ratio, Alpha, Sortino Ratio and Omega. Funds in the Multi Asset Income subcategory are ranked over five- and three-year periods according to the Sharpe Ratio, Alpha and Sortino Ratio. Funds in the Interest Bearing Short Term subcategory are ranked over five- and three-year periods according to the Sharpe Ratio, Alpha, Sortino Ratio and Treynor Ratio.

The funds' percentile rankings per measure over three and five years are time-weighted by applying weights of 40% and 60%. The total percentile ranking of funds in Non-multi Asset subcategories and Interest Bearing Variable Term subcategories are then calculated by applying a weight of 20% to each fund's applicable percentile rankings per measure.

In the Multi Asset subcategories (excluding Multi Asset Income), a weighting of 25% is applied to four performance measures: the Sharpe Ratio, the Sortino Ratio, Alpha and Omega, excluding the Treynor Ratio.

In the Multi Asset Income subcategory a weighting of 33.33% is applied to three performance measures: the Sharpe Ratio, the Sortino Ratio and Alpha, excluding the Treynor Ratio and Omega. In the Interest Bearing Short Term subcategories a weighting of 25.00% is applied to four performance measures: the Sharpe Ratio, the Sortino Ratio, Alpha and the Treynor Ratio.

The funds are classed in their subcategory according to the normal distribution curve and awarded PlexCrown Ratings as follows:

Top	10%	=	5 PlexCrowns
Next	22.5%	=	4 PlexCrowns
Next	35%	=	3 PlexCrowns
Next	22.5%	=	2 PlexCrowns
Bottom	10%	=	1 PlexCrown
