Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was 0.20%.

Robeco BP Global Premium Equities strongly outperformed the core MSCI World Index, with stock selection driving relative performance. The fund held up well, given the market turmoil, with contributions to stock selection from the healthcare and industrials sectors of the market adding most value. In healthcare, attractively priced biotech company AbbVie and healthcare services company McKesson were both up over 7% for the month, while the fund's overweight positioning in various healthcare providers and services companies including Cigna, Humana and Centene also added value. Within industrials, off-benchmark German aerospace & defense company Rheinmetall soared over 45% during the month, after Germany announced it would be boosting military spending following Russia's invasion of Ukraine. Engineering company Leidos and building products firm Owens Corning were also positive contributors to relative returns. Sector allocation also benefited relative performance during the month due to overweight exposure to energy, healthcare and materials and underweight exposure to information technology.

Market development

Global equity markets as measured by the core MSCI World Index finished the second month of the year down - 2.53% (net/USD), while the MSCI World Value Index fell a lesser -1.63% (net/USD). All sectors in the core index were in negative territory, with the exception of energy and materials, which climbed 5.17% and 2.43% respectively. The worst-performing sectors were communication services, information technology and consumer discretionary.

Expectation of fund manager

We continue to monitor the global market reaction to the conflict in Eastern Europe. As we maintain portfolios with a consistent, bottom-up stock selection approach, we do not try to position around geopolitical or macroeconomic events. The fund has no direct exposure to any companies based in Russia or Ukraine. The analysts will continue to update the portfolio managers as to the business impact due to the conflict of any companies that have any indirect revenue exposure to these countries. Regarding value, the balance in the portfolio between value, fundamentals and momentum is important now due to the potential of slowing economic conditions because of the conflict. The market has started to present some attractive opportunities of late and we have taken advantage of some, but we are being patient as the macro backdrop is cloudy due to tightening monetary policy, inflation, supply chain disruptions and the situation in Ukraine. As always, the fund remains well positioned, with holdings that reflect Boston Partners' three-circle characteristics – attractive valuations, solid business fundamentals and identifiable catalysts.

Sustainability

The fund incorporates sustainability in the investment process via exclusions, ESG integration, a carbon target, engagement and voting. Through exclusions the fund avoids investments in issuers that are in breach of international norms or where activities have been deemed detrimental to society following Robeco's exclusion policy. Financially material ESG factors are integrated in the bottom-up investment analysis to assess the sustainability risk profile of companies. In the stock selection the fund limits exposure to elevated sustainability risks. The fund also targets a lower carbon footprint compared to the reference index. In addition, where a stock issuer is flagged for breaching international standards in the ongoing monitoring, the issuer will become subject to engagement. Lastly, the fund makes use of shareholder rights and applies proxy voting in accordance with Robeco's proxy voting policy.
